MAJOR MORGAN LECTURED ON X-RAY WORK

Traced Development Since Time of Rontgen

MEDICAL SOCIETY

Tobin Amuses Members by Rendering "We All Went Home in a Cab"

Last evening a very successful meeting of the Medical Society was held. The only business of importance was the report of the Dinner Committee. After all expenses had been paid a good balance remained. This was an especially good report, as this year no contributions had been asked for from the different members of the Faculty, as has been the custom in former years.

Several very excellent selections were then given by the McGill Mandolin Club.

At this point the meeting adjourned to Room A, where the speaker of the evening, Majojr Morgan, demonstrated slides from X-Ray photographs. These slides dealt mainly with the use of the X-Ray in war surgery.

Major Morgan started off by tracing the gradual development of knowledge of electricity, which was a necessity before the X-Ray could become a possibility. The Greeks first noticed that electricity could be produced on rubbing a rod vigorously. Next came Volta's famous observation of a dead frog twitching when electricity was in the air. Faraday then invented the induction coil.

Rontgen accidentally discovered X-Rays, while experimenting with an electric current in a vacuum tube in a box: He noticed the Potassium Ferrocyanide crystals near the rays showed opalescence. This aroused his attention and led to further experiments.

Many improvements have of course been made since that time. Formerly, to take an X-Ray picture through the kidney region, an exposure of 40 minutes was necesary, at the present time a picture can be taken through the body in the thickest part on an exposure of 1/500 of a second.

X-Ray plates are coated with an

THE LAST INFORMAL DANCE IS POPULAR

Tickets May Be Obtained at the Union Now

The informal dance to be held in the Union on Friday evening, April 4, will be the last social function of its kind this session. The dances already held have been great successes and there is no doubt about their popularity. These dances are really the most popular at the college as every one may attend them.

A Jazz Band has been secured to play for the event and everyone may be assured that the music will be of a high order. Everything will be arranged so that refreshments will be served without any of the hitches usual at affairs of this nature.

Under no condition will tickets be sold to more students than can be comfortably accommodated in the large hall in the top of the Union. Tickets have been placed on sale at the Union and may be obtained from the desk porter at any time. The subscription list has been opened at this early date in order that students will have the preference over everyone in obtaining the tickets.

In addition to being the last of these dances to be held this year it is also expected that it will surpass all the others. Students are invited to obtain their tickets as early as possible in order to avoid being disappointed.

PRIVATE TO MINISTER

Commencing at Lowest Rung Sir Auckland Geddes Reaches Heights

No official confirmation has yet been issued by the University authorities of the press report to the effect that Sir Auckland Geddes had accepted an offer to assume the duties of Principal at McGill. In all probability however he will be the choice of the McGill representatives in London, and will almost certainly accept the position.

Previously, says the report, the matter had been discussed informally with Sir Auckland by representatives of McGill, and Sir Auckland stated that he would accept the offer when it was formally submitted for his consideration.

McGill University will be proud to welcome as her head a man of Sir Auckland Geddes' type, a man who has distinguished himself in both great walks of life — military and civilian. A graduate in Medicine, Sir Auckland Geddes commenced his illustrious career with the R. A. M. C. in the South African war. Entering McGill, he was placed in the chair of the Department of Anatomy.

Delivering the annual address in 1913, Prof. Geddes urged the students to join the C. O. T. C. In the course of his speech, he stated: "The O. T. C. is an Imperial unit, and by its means the training of officers has been standardized so that Imperial co-operation will be possible in a time when citizens from all the Dominions may be called upon to rally to the aid of the mother country." It was as though Prof. Geddes could pierce the mists of the future and in light of after events had the powers of a prophet.

Then came the outbreak of the great war. With many others of McGill's finest sons, Professor Geddes, after placing the C. O. T. C. on a stable basis, heard the clarion call of the Empire and, hastening to England, entered the army.

Commencing at the lowest rung of

MUSIC PROVIDED

Champagne vs. Bleau in the Feature Wrestling Match of Evening

The preparations which have been going on for the B., W. and F. smoker have now reached a stage where the success of the event is certain. The tickets have been selling rapidly, especially the ringside seats, among the Alumni and the presence of old graduates will doubtless add brilliancy to the occasion.

The smoker will take place in the ball room of the Union and the M.A.A.A. has kindly given McGill the use of their ring, so this leaves no doubt as to the quality of the accommodations.

The smoker will begin at 8 o'clock sharp and everyone desiring to see the whole show will have to be on time.

All members of the Club are requested to meet in the dressing rooms of the Union at 7:30 in order to receive last instructions from Mr. Smith who is handling the details of the program.

This smoker is always the culminating event of the club's activities and considering that the men have worekd so hard and such good material has been found this year, this smoker deserves and undoubtedly has the support of the entire student body. There is absolutely no doubt in the mind of any one who has watched the practices lately that the McGill Boxing and Wrestling teams will be a very powerful organization at the intercollegiate assault-at-arms next year.

The officials for the occasion are "Billy" Armstrong of the M. A. A. A. referee; he will be assisted in handling the program by Mr. Smith, R. R. Laing will act as announcer. The timers and judges will be Col. Magee, Dr. Sullivan, Prof. Traquair, Mr. Elder and Col. W. Turner.

The M. A. A. A. has promised to BASKETBALL TEAMS PLAY AT CENTRAL Y.

Should Seniors Fail to Win They Lose Championship.

The Senior and Intermediate Basketball teams will both play games on the Central Y.M.C.A. floor to-night. The Seniors are scheduled to play the Shamrock team, and the Intermediates will play Railroad Y.M.C.A. The players will be on the floor at 7.30 o'clock, so that the games will be finished in time for them to return to the B., W. & F. smoker.

The Senior game is the last regular game to be played this season, although a postponed game will be played next week. It is important that the Senior squad should win their game to-night, as a loss would mean the loss of the championship to them.

The Intermediate will play their last game of the season to-night, unless it is necessary to play off for the championship. Should the McGill team win the game, they will be tied with Railroad Y.M.C.A. for first place, as the Railroad team has to play another game to complete their schedule, and that game away from home. The Red and White will be the favourites if they win to-night.

It is hoped that a large crowd of suppporters will be on hand to see the game, as every encouragement will be needed in order to win. These games are perhaps the most important of the season, as much depends upon them.

The following men are asked to turn out to-night:

Intermediates	Seniors
Kern	Montgomery
Levitt	Kern
Brown	Hay
Laishley	Upham
Forbes	Upham
Rapp	Young

GEDDES THE GREAT.

It passes as current rumor that if Sir Wm. Peterson must resign the principalship of McGill Sir Auckland Geddes will be offered the post. There are a number of reasons why this choice would be desirable and popular.

Dr. Geddes possesses a tremendous personality. In any company, military, professional or social, he rises a Colossus above the crowd. When the great war was only beginning, and the efforts of most military organizers were amateurish, Geddes, by the fire of his magnetic personality and his knowledge of the essentials of war, whipped raw college recruits into a unit of definite worth with a speed which marked the master.

In his farewell address to the Second Year Medical students in October, 1914, Dr. Geddes observed: "Many of you, too, will break your courses before this is over." This prophecy was made, when on all sides the prediction was that the war would terminate before Christmas. A prophecy which hit the mark so well was more than coincidence.

Since his departure for war all have followed his vigorous career with admiration. It will not be judged unusual if the man Geddes, who went away to war as head of a department, should return full of honors won by executive ability, to become the principal of his Alma Mater. Those who had the privilege of taking lectures from Geddes praised his worth as a teacher, marvelled at the profoundity of his knowledge, felt his deep sympathy with the student outlook and admired the outstanding humanity of his views.

In some circles Geddes is regarded as a reactionary in education. He did, it is true, stir up that ancient seat of Edinburgh and put fresh vitality into certain departments at McGill. But many have felt that an effort to enliven the "old fogeyism" which speedily abounds where stagnation exists, is not without its virtue.

Here is a man of matchless constructive energy and undoubted administrative skill, an acknowledged leader of men, possessing sympathy with the student's mind, a man of sound judgment and good sense, a prophet, a gentleman of the world, who takes his outlook on life from the mountain peak.

Such a man is Sir Auckland Geddes, and McGill needs the type. If he has been prevailed upon to assume the leadership of this University it will be the greatest event in the life of McGill in a score of years.

P. Q. ENGLISH RUGBY ASSOCIATION FORMED

McGill Will Probably Enter a Team Next Fall

An enthusiastic meeting of the followers of English Rugby took place last night in the Windsor Hotel. Preliminary steps were taken towards the formation of a Quebec English Rugby Association, and o cers were elected. A field nas been secured in Model City and it is hoped that at least two teams will be formed this spring in order to start things going. In the face four teams are expected to form a league in the city.

It is now too late in the session for anything to be done at McGill this year, but with the return of the students next fall, and with the increased registration which is almost assured, there should be no difficulty in picking a team to enter this league. An effort is being made to have English Rugby played in the schools, Bishop's College, at Lennoxville, being the pioneers. Capt P. Buckley, M. C. '15 who has recently returned, and who has played English Rugby on the college team and football on the seconds, is the Secretary-treasurer of this association.

send over the following men to give exhibitions in boxing:

Fitzpatrick vs Hughes.
Logan vs St. Pierre.
Fisk vs Parsons.

These men are far from being novices in the noble art of self defense and these bouts will give an excellent idea of what science can do in a boxing contest.

Some of the McGill boys bouts

Watt vs Addy (125 lbs.)
J. T. McCullough vs F. D. McCullough (145 lbs).
Mersky vs Kelnor (105 lbs.)
Mirsby vs Kelnor (105 lbs).
Kaningsberg vs Loebell.

Among the other boxers who have not as yet been matched but are requested to turn out on time as by tonight they will be on the program are Bradley, Ross. Copeland, Shapiro and Powers.

The wrestling bouts will be between the following men all of whom have had considerable experience:

Adams vs Jones.
McIntosh vs Duvernet.
Bain vs McGregor.
Davis vs Moder.
Champoux vs Bleau.

This last bout will undoubtedly prove of very great interest. Almond who has previously been in Intercollegiate wrestling in pre-war days will also perform.

Excellent music will intersperse the program to add to the enjoyment of the evening. Among the artists will be Cloutier, the inimitable interpreter of the Hawaiian Muses. "Heck" Campbell well known through his romantic voice and Don Beach about whom any description would be superfluous.

If any one has been unable to procure tickets, they will be able to do so at the Union until 8 o'clock from the Hall Porter.

R. V. C. SECTION

AN ITALIAN TOUR.

The following is an extract from a letter written by a young English lad who is acting as wireless telegraph operator on a transport:

As we are due to arrive at Gibraltar to-morrow morning I am taking the opportunity to write about a few of my impressions of Italy and the Italians. My last letter to you was written a few weeks ago while at Gibraltar.

We received orders at Gibraltar to proceed to Spezia, Italy, where we expected to discharge our cargo. We arrived there in a fog which covered the harbour and town making everything look dismal and unlike 'Sunny Italy.' However, the weather improved on the next day which was Christmas Eve and we found the town was fairly small. Spezia is the chief naval base of Italy and although only a few fighting vessels of different tonnage were there, the town always seemed full of Italian sailors. There were only three streets that were lighted at night and only a few shops which were shut all the time, we were there owing to the Christmas holidays.

After staying four days in Spezia we were sent to Oneglia, about forty miles west of Genoa. Here we were several days without discharging owing to the incessant rain which reminded me of an English winter. We had the honor of being the largest steamer that has been to Oneglia; we were also said to have the worst crew that has been there. After being there a week, three of our black men chased every Italian out of the streets with razors and nearly killed two policemen. This exploit cost the ship its good name, afterwards being called by the Italians, 'Brute Africano, Vaporci.'

When we went to buy anything, they charged the proper price but with an added 100% for being a foreigner and not knowing the language. One day I went into a shop to buy some biscuits and was charged 8d. for four small stale, ones that we would only give to the dogs at home.

The scenery is very pretty and there are very good walks. The main street is the only clean and wide street in the whole town, the others being dirty and badly set out. The houses like the streets are dirty and badly built. In several houses I have seen horses stabling on the ground floor while people live in the upper rooms. If ever the Spanish Flue visits Oneglia, I am afraid that there would not be anybody left, as there are only one or two doctors there.

Another thing which impressed me was the cruelty to anything alive, not human. I saw some men tie a pig's fore and back feet to separate pieces of rope, pull the rope tight and draw the animal along the flinty road. Can one imagine an Englishman doing such a thing?

We stayed a month in Oneglia and were all glad when the time come to leave...

CIGAR FOR CAMELS

Soldiers from the east are telling some curious stories of camels' love for tobacco. Dromedaries and camels are passionately addicted to the weed and can be made to do almost anything under its influence.

The driver carries a triangular piece of wood, which is pierced at one point like a cigar-holder. This is inserted in the beast's mouth, the cigar being then lit and pressed into the hole.

The camel immediately closes his eyes and puffs away through his mouth and nostrils till the cigar is entirely consumed. It seems to thoroughly enjoy the experience. Furthermore, the nicotine seems to exercise a stimulating and refreshing effect upon the animal, so that tho' ready, to all appearance, to drop from fatigue before its smoke, it will plod on for many more miles after it. — Tit-Bits.

NOTICES.

SIR A. GEDDES LIKELY TO BE NEW PRINCIPAL

the army ladder, Dr. Geddes served some time as a private in the Imperial Forces. His ability, however, was soon recognized and in the winter of 1915 he was appointed second in command of the 17th Northumberland Fusiliers. As a result of an accident sustained through a fall from his horse, he subsequently was attached to the adjutant-general's department. Later he was promoted Brigadier-General and sent to the War Office in the capacity of Director of Recruiting. In less than a year Geddes had risen from a lowly private to the lofty position of Director of Recruiting! Here indeed is an example of brilliant ability, from the lowest rung to the highest — this in the army where promotion is proverbially slow.

Continuing his upward climb, Dr. Geddes was appointed Minister of National Service, in August 1917, and was given a seat in the cabinet. His services were much needed as the Empire was passing through the darkest period of the war. His Majesty King George V, in recognition of the priceless service Geddes had rendered to the Empire, created him a Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath.

This is the record of McGill's next principal, a record which is worthy of emulation and the highest praise. The University may well consider herself fortunate, and with this amazing man at the helm, her future is secure.

Sir Auckland Geddes is a member of a distinguished family. Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, is his brother. His sister, Mrs Chalmers Watson, is the organizer and commander of the W. A. A. C.

Sir William Peterson, who has held the difficult post of principal through the trying days of the war, with its consequent diminution in the number of students registered, has resigned. stricken with a serious attack of paralysis while about to speak at a meeting recently, he has been in the Royal Victoria Hospital ever since. Sir William is now slowly recovering but his state of health does not permit him to continue in the arduous and responsible capacity of principal of McGill. We are pleased to state that Sir William Peterson will, however, continue his close personal interest in the affairs of the University.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR AQUATIC SPORTS

All Details Completed for Successful Meet

In preparation for the coming Aquatic Meet, special pains will be taken by the executive of the Swimming Club, to have representatives down at the tank on Tuesday and Thursday afternoon of next week in order that the times of all those desirous of competing in any of the events may be taken. The students are reminded that all events, with the exception of the diving and the open. 100 yards free style, are handicapped so that everybody will be given an equal chance to win some of the honors. Candidates are also reminded that all entries have to be in by Wednesday, April 2nd, and that their times must be given with their entry.

Next year the executive hopes to send teams to the different intercollegiate meets, both in Canada and the United States, but can only do this if a good showing is made this year.

All students are requested to back this meet to their utmost. This far this year practically all the support has come from the freshman years. This does not credit on the senior years as regards their class and college spirit, and is much to be regretted.

Spectators' tickets may be obtained from the different class presidents on Monday. Admission tickets are priced at : gallery, fifty cents, and down stairs, seventy-five cents. Many tickets have already been promised to prominent outsiders, so all students should get theirs as early as possible as there is only a limited supply.

All students who can swin (not necessarily crack ones) are reminded that they are expected to enter these races and make them a success. Those who are unable to swin may show their college spirit by attending as spectators. A championship race will be staged between Hodgson, Vernot, Fisk, Patten and others.

Lady friends may be brought to the Meet and are assured an enjoyable evening.

UNCLE SALT BASIN—THE SENIOR IN ARTS.

Since I've worked on this paper whose pages I'm turning, I've seen, I may say, many young men of parts—lots of youths who were clever and full of deep learning, but none can compare with the Senior in Arts. O, who is the poet, — yes, who in the blazes,—whose strains mellifluous will tickle our hearts; where, where is the man who will sing us the praises of that noble creature, the Senior in Arts?

He's ancient and hoary and tried by the fire, of episodes strange his existence is full, and it seems that of talking he never will tire (unkind folks might say that he slaughters the bull). But he draws at his pipe and enthrals the bystanders, he calls all the profs. by some little pet names, and it's wondrous to learn about all this great man dares in matters of peaches and chickens and dames.

Tho' he's not such an expert at any one line, there are plenty of things he can do at a pinch, but it's usually true, may I add, that he's fine at all kinds of advice-giving — that is a cinch!

He jeers at the college and all things about it, and longs for the day he will walk from its door, but although this sounds good, I'm afraid I must doubt it, there really is nothing the Senior loves more.

Well, he's a good fellow, and I will be sorry to bid him farewell when the holiday starts, for I think of the days that we guys spent before he came to the proud station of Senior in Arts!!

CASUAL CLARENCE

He answers any question you like to put.

To-day's Perpetration.

Ques.—Why is the staff of McGill Daily like an R.V.C. Senior in English lecture?

Ans.—Because it gets so many notes. (This is only for the initiated.)

IMPORT-ANT NEWS!

Extracts from Canadian Trade Commission's report on Canadian imports:

Peaches .. .. $ 496,000
Peaches 1,277,000

The question is, do figures lie? Well, the world is the same all over, anyway.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Dear Iva,—Why is the erection at the end of the Arts Building called Molson Hall? Why the Hall?

Yours,
D. Funkt, Arts '20.

Dear D.,—Because of the amount of pulling that goes on there, we presume.—Yours,

Iva Payne.

Dear Iva,—What is the derivation of the word "Section," as I see it frequently in the Daily?—Yours,

N. Quirer.

Dear N.,—It comes from the Latin "seco," to cut, we think.—Yours,

Iva Payne.

PUTTY-EYED PERCIVAL SAYS:

Any clerk can drive a pen, but a pencil's always lead.

Speaking of that B., W. & F. smoker, why is not an invitation extended to the Daily staff to give an exhibition of the deadly scissors hold?

ANOTHER MYSTERY SOLVED.

The other day we were seated upon the iron railing running round the reservoir at the back of the University property, and as we gazed reflectively over the expanse of ice thought came into our head, "How is this body of water replenished from time to time as the volume diminishes with use? Surely a pumping-engine of immense power is necessary to drive the water all the way up to the reservior here?"

Even as the words framed themselves in the recesses of our consciousness, we noted upon the campus spread beneath us a small agitated speck, and recognized it for ———, one of the members of our class. ——— was drawing near the Redpath Library, and was clearly in a great hurry. The speck reached the doors of the building and hung upon the threshold—a struggle seemed to follow. Simultaneously, a gate at the northwest corner of the reservoir opened, and a large quantity of water —about six tons, we should say—was discharged therefrom.

For a moment our brain was clouded, we had a dim presentiment that we were upon the verge of a great discovery of some kind. Then the whole wonderful truth flashed into being and took form and utterance.

"Eureka!" we cried, frightening the usual grey squirrel into a fit, "Now I know why the Library door is so hard to open. Another money-saving scheme of the Mayor and Council."

Strange, is it not, that the idea of a powerful pump attached to that door had never before occurred to anyone?

POET SCORNER.

Edited by Pyrotechnis Pete.

On casting your eye below, fond reader, you will observe another effusion of the Freshman Bard, who has poured forth his soul in a pathetic ode on a subject which has many times previously been treated by poets. The delightful ignoring of any other possible interpretation of the initials N.D.G. after the fair one's name should be noted.

Owed to a Cabman.

'Twas in the days of my verdant youth,
At my Freshman year at McGill,
I found "look ere you leap" was a merry old truth,
But found it too late, to my ill.

For as soon as I heard of the Junior "Shine,"
I invited a damsel to come;
And, adorned with a dress-suit that never was mine,
I called round to escort this fair one.

Now, the thing I neglected to find out before
Was where my ma'm'selle's home might be,
So judge my pained look when I looked at the book,
And saw opposite her name "N.D.G."

The street-car ride out is quite easy to tell,
But a sleigh to the Union from THERE—
When cabbie collected his fortune—oh, well,
The darned sleigh was worth less than the fare.

Arrived at the Union, we danced until three,
Then left, and of course, cabbed it home,
This time he collected four-fifty from me,
And I, broke, hoof'd it home with a groan.

So hark, fellow-sufferers, list ere you fall,
To the warning this po-em gives;
It's "before you ask your girl to a ball,
Be sure to find out where she lives."

emulsion of silver salts, as in ordinary photography, but the silver layer is somewhat thicker. Where the greatest amount of light hits the plate, the greatest change in the silver salts occurs and vice versa. Thus the plate appears black where there is least obstruction of light, and dark where some dense tissue intervenes. This is very important and should be kept in mind when reading a negative.

It must be borne in mind that the X-Ray plate is not a true photograph but a shadow, and different structures are superimposed upon each other. For this reason views must be taken from two angeles, at right angles if possible. Slides of X-Ray plates were shown to demonstrate this.

The X-Ray is used to show fractures, foreign bodies, and has also been used in the war to show the onset of infection by gas forming bacteria. These pictures became so useful that a fairly good prognosis could be made by the appearance of the plate in this gas gangrene.

At the close of the address, refreshments were served. The Mandolin Club gave several more selections, and Tobin rendered his famous song "We Were All Boozed".

The meeting then closed with the singing of the National Anthem, followed by the McGill yell.

ANNUAL MEETING OF OTTAWA GRADS.

Officers Elected — Figures of McGill's Losses in War Given.

The annual meeting of the Ottawa Valley Graduates Society of McGill University was held in the Ottawa University Club on March 20th last, a large number of its members being in attendance.

The meeting was informed that the P. S. Ross exhibition for $100 had been awarded to Lieut. Wm. L. Robertson, of the Royal Flying Corps. No award could be made of the society's scholarship of $50 as the successful candidates had not taken up their studies at the university this year.

Dr. D. B. Dowling, representative fellow for Ontario, gave a report on the activities of the university during the past year. He pointed out the notable part played by the staff, the graduates and the undergraduates in the war, special reference being made to the high standard of the work of the medical faculty and the large enlistment from science. The total enlistments were 2,429, including 90 from the staff, of which 461 were wounded and 314 killed or died of wounds, 398 honors were awarded, including two Victoria Crosses, to F. A. C. Scrimger, M.D., (1905) and Fred Fisher, B. Sc. (1916).

Sir James Grant, the honorary president, addressed the meeting on university and alumni matters, in which he displayed a very active interest. A lengthy discussion followed on the formation of a Centralized Alumni Association and the development of closer co-operation between the graduates and the university, the promotion of dormitories and a gymnasium. A committee was appointed to deal with these matters.

The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Sir James Grant; president, A. W. Duclos; vice-presidents, J. B. McRea, O. S. Finnie, Dr. F. W. C. Mohr; secretary, G. McL. Pitts; treasurer, Frederic E. Bronson; committee, Dr. C. H. Brown, Dr. S. Hadwen, F. E. Buck, J. Blizard and Gordon G. Gale; supervisor of examinations, J. A. Robert.

After the meeting the retiring president, Dr. C. H. Brown, entertained the members at supper.

CAPT. GEORGE VILLAIN TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

Visit of Prominent Dental Surgeon to Montreal.

Next week, Montreal will be visited by a well known Dental Surgeon of France. The visitor is Dr. George Villain of Hopital Val-de-Grâce, Paris, France. In that institution, Dr. Villain is Chief of the Department of Facial Restoration, a work carried on for the benefit of soldiers disfigured by wounds.

This French dentist was sent to America by the French Government, to attend the meeting of the American Institute of Dental Teachers at Atlanta, Ga., in February, of which body Dr. Thornton of McGill University was president.

Since the meeting, Dr. Villain has been visiting the Dental Colleges of the United States and Canada. His Montreal visit begins Wednesday, March 26th and continues through the week. Some time will be spent at McGill and Laval Universities. On Wednesday afternoon, the visitor will address the students of McGill University.

Dr. Villain will also give a public Lecture in the Windsor Hall, due notice of which will be given. Dr. Villain has with him a number of life-sized colored models of wounded soldiers, showing the condition of patients on entering the hospital and at discharge.

Particular emphasis is placed on restorations of parts around the head and neck, but repair of other parts is also represented. Moving pictures and slides form part of the exhibit, which includes not only the medical aspect of war surgery, but also photographs of the devastated area of France.

Appliances and methods undertaken in restoring destroyed features, will be discussed by this experienced teacher.

Dr. Villain will be the guest of a number of professional bodies.

Do not give up your old clothes, especially those that can be repaired, remodelled or re-made into any style or fashion.

Also—We do French Dry Cleaning and Dyeing of all kinds. We make gentlemen's suits with your or our material at most reasonable prices.

FIT-REFORM

Business Standards For Business Men

For a quarter of a century, Fit-Reform Suits and Overcoats have been the standard for business.

Their sound styles; their general excellence of quality and workmanship; appealed to the business sense of men trained to demand value.

In these days of national economy, it is a pleasure to know that the Fit-Reform standard of quality has been, and is, steadily maintained.

Your "exact" figure

It would be folly to try and fit your figure with a Type A Suit if you were tall and weighed over 170. It would be ludicrous to attempt to fit a Semi-ready Type B Suit on a man who is short and stout.

There are Seven physique Types—seven distinct and separate designs; we have added an eighth, called a "stub" figure.

The purpose is to fit all men in Semi-ready Tailored Clothes—to give a fit as perfect as can be made to measure after a try-on by the best custom tailor.

THE COST: The label price in the pocket is the same here as at the door of the Semi-ready shops—the same price everywhere.

R. C. LEGGO

Campus Leaders.

R. CHRISTOPHER LEGGO.

Our hero, who is well known upon the campus if any one is, hails from Ottawa Collegiate, where he was Vice-President of the Literary and Debating Society. Entering college with the class of Medicine '19, "Kit" played class foootball in 1914 and 1915, and was on the King Cook committee. He has been a member of the Union House committee and was secretary of the Annual Board last year, besides holding many other offices in connection with minor college activities.

Those who have the pleasure of "Kit's" acquaintance recognize in him a notable conversationalist, and when he enters a room with his face lighted up with a meaning smile those in it realize that some fun is forthcoming. He is able to see the humorous side of many things which to another would appear to be the reverse.

Quite the neatest sobriquet he rejoices in is that of "Kitto," invented by a former prominent member of Sci. '19 in a moment of stress. His hobby is declining nomination to the Principalship, and his pet aversion, acting as keeper.

CAPT. J. LALANNE, M.C. RETURNING TO McGILL

Former Member of Arts '17 Wounded Three Times Overseas.

Capt. J. Lalanne, M. C., a former editor of the Daily and prominent member of Arts '17, visited the Arts building yesterday where he met many of his numerous friends.

James Lalanne was born in Lachute, Que., in 1897 and matriculated from the Lachute Academy. He immediately broke into the limelight as one of the most brilliant members of Arts '17, a class which sent many men overseas. He played class hockey and football and was also a member of the Harrier Club.

While at college Lalanne showed great interest in the C. O. T. C. in which he held a sergeant's stripes. In the summer of 1915 he enlisted as a private in the Second Universities Company of the P. P. C. L. I. and proceeded overseas as a corporal. He was raised to a lieutenant and later transferred to the 5th C. M. R. in which he received his captaincy.

Lalanne was wounded at the Somme after being in action for not more than five minutes. Later, on October 30th 1917, he was wounded at Passchendaele. Besides being wounded he suffered from the effects of gas. He was out on reconnaissance very near the German trenches when he was hit.

After remaining here for several months, during which he was a welcome visitor to the Arts building, he returned overseas. He was wounded for a third time. Capt. Lalanne not only received the M. C., but also a bar to it. He returned last Tuesday with the 5th C. M. R., the battalion which received such a welcome from McGill, and in whose ranks were many McGill men.

Lalanne has always been a very brilliant scholar and great success has attended him in his studies. He is well known for his reserve and modesty, and for this reason our information above was received from other sources.

It is said that Lalanne will resume lectures on Monday, registering with the class of Arts '20. It is hoped that this is true, for a man who has made such an enviable record both as a student and a fighter is much needed in the ranks of Old McGill.
